Critical Time to Help Our Youth

We understand that our global and Maryland economy is in desperate need of our children and young adults to be academically and socially prepared for these fields, including the ability to produce scholarly work for future generation to come. We believe there is a need for out-of-school programs like ours to help support our school systems by giving our youth and young adult's opportunities to enhance their problem solving, critical thinking, and creative thinking skills during the critical hours where learning ceases; after school and during the summer.

What is KidsSTREAM, Inc.
KidsSTREAM, Inc.
academically and socially prepare youth and adults within the Washington, D.C. area to excel in the fields of science, technology, research, engineering, arts, and mathematics (STREAM).

What Programs Do You Provide?

We provide four unique programs that can help inspire and motivate our youth to stimulate their mind and apply what they learn everyday in real life situations

Poetic Souljahs

Poetic Souljahs is a collaborative effort to inspire youth to express themselves through written and spoken words. Students will be introduced to the variety of genres of creative writing with the hope they can tell their stories to others across the globe.

Summer STREAM Camp

This program provides five weeks of engaging activities that infuses STEM, research, and the arts. Students will leave the program with a strong ability to apply their critical and creative thinking through real world application.

Math Tutoring for Youth and Adults

The Maryland College and Career Readiness Curriculum for Math is totally different from the ways we were taught. Students and adults will learn what it will take to be successful in a math course.

Mentoring Young Lions, Lionesses and Cubs (MYLC)

We provide college and career readiness tools for our high school youth that will help them be ready when they graduate from school and survive on their own..
